Ar. an alligator vert. N.B. The arms of the Norman family of ROUCESTER, or ROSSITER, were "Ar. on a chev. gu. three pheons or." An old MS. collection of arms of Irish families in Ulster's Office gives the ROSSITERS, of co. Wexford, the same arms, differenced with a "lizard or alligator in chief," a device borne by many ancient Milesian families in their arms and crests. The Wexford ROSSITERS, having become Hibernicised, appear to have adopted the lizard or alligator, not only as a difference in their shield to distinguish them from the parent stock in England, but also as a mark of their adopted nationality; in course of time the family dropped the charges on their former shield, retaining only their adopted device or mark of difference, and so the arms, as they now appear in the books of Ulster's Office, are charged with the alligator alone. Crest—An eagle displ. with two heads ppr.

Tucker, Tooker, or Toker (Exeter, co. Devon). Barry wavy of ten ar. and az. on a chev. embattled and counter-embattled or, betw. three sea-horses naiant of the first, five gouttes de poix. Crest—A lion's gamb erased gu. charged with three billets in pale or, and holding a battle axe or, head az., granted, 1538, by Thomas Hawley, Clarenceux. As thus blazoned, though with constant variations, this complicated old coat has been borne by various families or lines of TUCKER, but none are entitled to it unless proving descent from ROBERT TUCKER, of Exeter, the grantee, or from the TUCKERS of Lamerton and Helland, to whom the same arms were admitted at the Visit. 1620. The difficulty of representing the coat doubtless led to the many discrepancies, the bars varying from twelve to six, the chev. embattled in chief and not in base, the number of the gouttes de poix three, five, seven, or semée, and the bars in some instances being represented as so many barrulets on a white field. The crest also, though always right in the colour and charges on the gamb, is sometimes erased, at others couped, and the battle axe drawn in every conceivable shape. A reference, however, to the wording of the original patent proves that the field "azure and argent wave," without naming bars or their number, was intended to represent the sea in which the "chevaulx marins" (the colour of which is not stated) are swimming. The doubly-embattled golden chev. "droped sabyll," is properly semée of gouttes de poix, while the lion's gamb of the crest must be represented couped, as it is not blazoned as erased or otherwise, and should hold, not a battle axe, but a mace of war ("masse of weyr"), the handle of which is vert, and the head ar. There are many early instances of the sea forming the field or part of the field in coat armour (ex. gr. Trevelyan), and it is so represented in the TUCKER shield in the Record D. 27, in the College of Arms.

HARRISON & SONS,

EXPORT AND GENERAL STATIONERS,

1, ST. JAMES'S STREET, LONDON, S.W.

Extract from THE MORNING POST, August 21, 1873.

A WEST-END PRIVATE HOTEL.—Few persons but those who have availed themselves of the comfort and convenience of a Private Hotel, conducted on a liberal scale, can appreciate the advantages of such a temporary home.

This class of Hotel is more frequently to be met with in London than in any Continental or American city, and there are certain localities in London which favour their popularity with the upper classes of society. For example, in Dover Street, Piccadilly, there is one of long-established reputation, known by the name of Cowan's Hotel, but now possessed by Mr. Denyer.

It would seem as if it had been built for this especial purpose, as a long passage connects under the same roof one house with an entrance in Albemarle Street, and another with an exit or entrance in Dover Street. Each house contains suites of fine large and lofty rooms, beautifully furnished, and replete with all the conveniences of a private dwelling.

The general supervision of the establishment is under the immediate care of Mrs. Denyer (formerly Miss Cowan), and whether a suite of rooms is occupied by a family or an individual visitor, there is the same regard to the comforts and requirements of each.

The ménage is at the option and according to individual orders, and is of course of the very best character that the London markets can supply.

WINES.

For wines there is, from the fact of Mr. Denyer being a wine merchant with very large connections among the nobility, an inimitable choice of the best brands and from the first shippers. The wine cellars are, however, in a very distinct locality, being situated in Regent Street, and occupying a subterraneous area extending in breadth from the west to the east, or opposite side of this spacious street.

Sparkling and still wines of every class which Germany and the champagne districts can furnish, the red wines of Portugal, and the white wines of Spain are not only to be found in these cellars in every variety, but Messrs. Denyer & Co. have a special reputation of possessing the largest stock of the choice and delicate sherries of Sanlucar which can perhaps be found in London.

These last-named wines are a speciality in themselves, because it is well known that Sanlucar is the native soil of Amontillado, Manzanilla, and all that class of dry sherries which are so highly recommended for their pure, natural, and nutritive properties.

THEY ARE ALSO IMPORTERS OF

The New Sparkling Wine, Rhinegau Champagne.

NOTE.—Suites of Rooms specially adapted for Wedding Breakfasts. Estimates given for large or small parties, inclusive of Wines if required.

Special advantages are offered in respect to Wines, which can be purchased at the Cellars, 95, REGENT STREET, at Merchants' Prices, paying the Hotel a small charge for Corkage.

JOHN WARD,

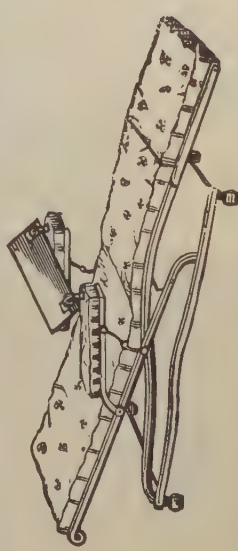
5 & 6, LEICESTER SQUARE, LONDON.

No. 11 is Ward's Patent Reclining Chair, with Shifting Elbows for more easily getting on and off the Chair when the leg-rest is drawn out, as shown in the drawing.

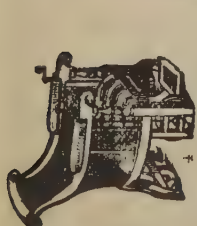
No. 17 is a four-wheeled Victoria Pleasure Ground Chair, mounted in a very light iron framed carriage, upon c and patent India-rubber springs, is either drawn by hand or animal, and is the most elegant and easiest chair made.

No. 21. A very light and easy three-wheeled Bath Chair, to be drawn by hand. Price from 14 Guineas.

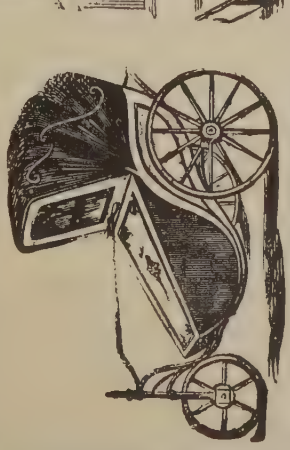
No. 14 is the simplest and best constructed Chair for carrying invalids up or down stairs, the lower handles for level ground, the upper ones for ascending or descending a staircase. The sketch conveys the exact idea; it is also made portable for travelling. Several other kinds are always in stock upon various principles.



No. 12. Ward's Patent Albert Lounging Chair, the most simple and luxurious extant, is fitted for the Drawing Room, Boudoir, Cabin, or Camp; is made in Wood, Iron, or Brass, and folds into a small compass for shipment. From 4½ Guineas.



Nos. 3 & 4 are self-propelling Chairs, one mounted upon engine-cut cogwheels, the other with 24-inch rim wheels outside; either may be used by a child eight years of age with the greatest ease.



No. 19. A Victoria Three-wheel Bath Chair, with leather head, folding German shutter, and patent spring front iron, to which shafts for a pony may be attached.

No. 10 is Earl's general Invalid Couch, made with or without a convenience: it adjusts the back seat and legs to any given position, by means of machinery; and is recommended by the Faculty as being the most complete bed ever made for confirmed invalids, or for fractured limbs

N.B.—The largest assortment in the world of Invalid's Chairs, Carriages, and Beds, always on hand for sale or hire.
Established more than a Century.

DENT'S CHRONOMETERS, WATCHES, and CLOCKS have long held pre-eminent rank, as may be seen from the Reports of various scientific persons :—

THE ASTRONOMER ROYAL (Sir G. B. AIREY), in his Report to the Admiralty (August 13, 1870) on forty Chronometers entered for annual competition, says of M. F. Dent's Chronometer—

"This is the finest Chronometer that we have ever had on trial."

N.B.—The Late Astronomer Royal (J. Pond, Esq.), reporting, in 1829, on the celebrated public trial by order of The Lords of the Admiralty, which lasted thirteen years, during which nearly 500 Chronometers were tested, says :—

"Your Chronometer, No. 114, is entitled to the First Premium. Actual variation in the year 0·54 hundredths of a second. This is superior to any other yet tried."

SIR WILLIAM ARMSTRONG, Inventor of the Armstrong Gun, says :—

"9, Hyde Park Street, W., 14*th November*, 1861.

"The Chronometer Watch you made for me in December, 1859, has never been affected by travelling or riding; its variation at the end of a year was only 45 seconds. It has proved in every respect a most satisfactory Watch.

"W. G. ARMSTRONG.

MOURNING.

MESSRS. JAY, anxious to remove the impression which they find has gained undue circulation, that none but the richest materials in Costumes, Mantles, and Millinery, are sold at their Establishment, deem it a duty to themselves and the Public to assure all families who have not yet dealt at JAY'S MOURNING WAREHOUSE, that good wearing materials are cut from the piece, and at more than an equivalent for the price, which is from 1s. per yard upwards, and Crape from 2s. 9d. per yard.

MESSRS. JAY have always at command experienced Dressmakers and Milliners, who act as travellers, so that in the event of immediate Mourning being required, or any other sudden emergency for dress, one can be dispatched to any part of the kingdom on receipt of a letter or telegram, without any expense whatever to the purchaser. All articles are marked in plain figures, and charges are the same as if the goods were bought for ready money at the Warehouse.

Reasonable estimates also given for household Mourning at a great saving to large or small families.
